Consider Entry of Refugees

Truman States he May Ask Congress For Permission to Bring Them to U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(P)—President Truman announced today he is considering asking Congress for special legislation to permit entry of European refugees, including Jews, into the United States.

A White House statement said the United States government "has not presented any plan of its own for the solution of the problem of Palestine," although the president has been exchanging views with Prime Minister Attlee of Britain on the question.

The statement said it was clear no settlement of the Palestine problem could be worked out that would be "fully satisfactory" to all parties concerned.

It added that a spirit of conciliation must be used if the problem is to be solved "in a manner which takes into account the rights of the Jewish people."

Statement
The text of Mr. Truman's statement:

Although the president has been exchanging views with Mr. Attlee on the subject, this government has not presented any plan of its own for the solution of the problem of Palestine.

It is the sincere hope of the president, however, that as a result of the proposed conversations between the British government and Jewish and Arab representatives a fair solution of the problem of Palestine can be found and immediate steps can be taken to alleviate the situation of the displaced Jews in Europe.

It is clear that no settlement of the Palestine problem can be achieved which will be fully satisfactory to all of the parties concerned and that if this problem is to be solved in a manner which will bring peace and prosperity to Palestine, it must be approached in a spirit of conciliation.

Special Attention Given
It is also evident that the solution of the Palestine question will not in itself solve the broader problem of the hundreds of thousands of displaced persons in Europe.

Giving this problem his special attention and hopes that arrangements can be entered into which will make it possible for various countries, including the United States, to admit many of these persons as permanent residents.

The president on his part is contemplating the approval of congress for special legislation authorizing the entry into the United States of a fixed number of these persons, including Jews.

(End text).
Ordinarily a request for such legislation would be held off until after next January 20, when a new congress convenes. There had been some speculation before the 79th congress adjourned that Mr. Truman might summon it back for a special session, primarily on domestic problems.

Two Negroes Are Executed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 16.—(P)—Two Negroes were executed today by electric chair in the Missouri penitentiary's lethal gas chamber for the brutal murder of a white woman that netted them less than five dollars.

It was the third double execution in the gas chamber since it replaced hangings in 1937 in the state. The two, Fred Ellis, 23, and Jesse Sanford, 37, had been convicted of beating Mrs. Mary Santo, 56-year-old widow with knuckles and battles, then wrapping her in a rug and burning her in her Pacific, Mo., home in December, 1943.

Ellis protested his innocence to the end but Sanford when asked by Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of corrections, if the two were together when Mrs. Santo was killed answered, "yes."

Fifteen minutes before entering the death chamber, Sanford embraced the Catholic faith. Ellis earlier had embraced the Baptist faith. The deadly pellets were released beneath the double death chair at 12:19 a. m., and eight minutes later the two were pronounced dead.

Gives Business to Clerk in Store

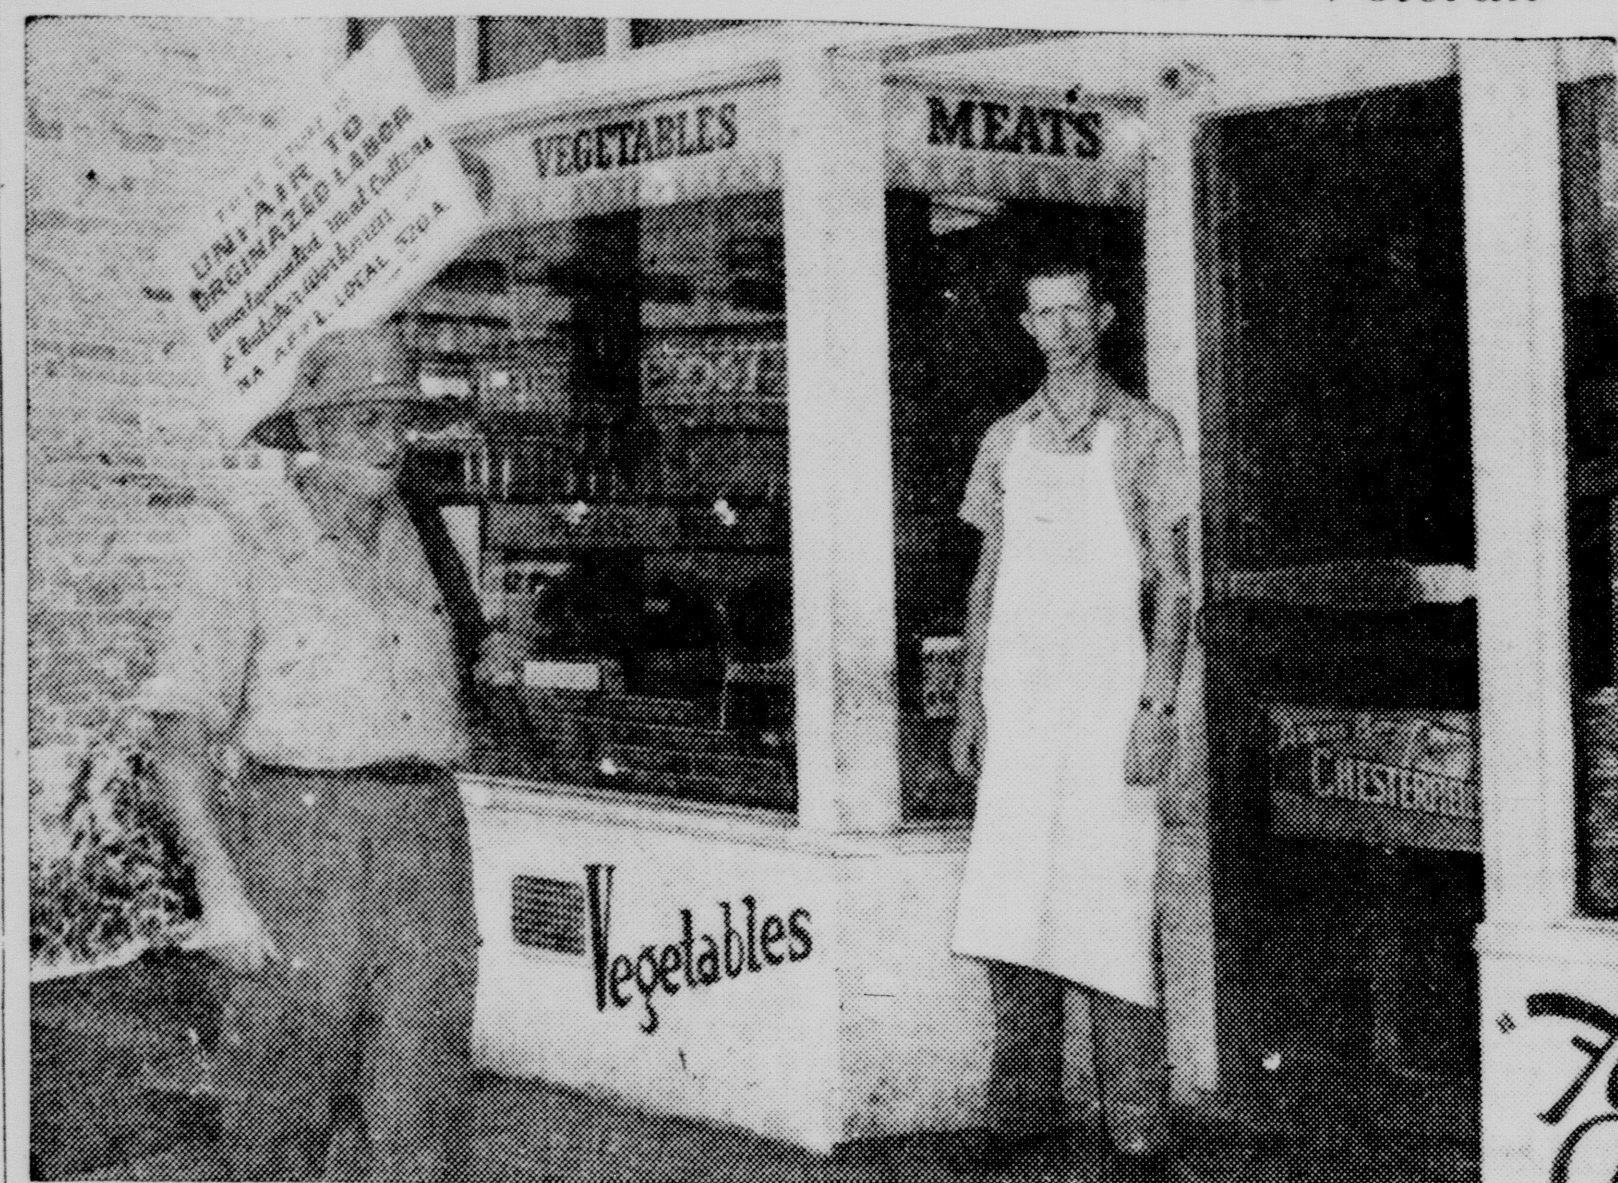

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 16.—(P)—Ray A. Thomas today was the amazed owner of a hardware store in which he had worked for 16 years.

C. N. Drescher, of Michigan City, Ind., former owner of the store, retired some months ago. He explained:

"I've had enough of the hardware business. My wife and I have all the money we need. Ray has worked faithfully and hard... and he's the one to whom the business should go."

Thomas managed the store for five years.

Veteran World War I Pickets World War II Veteran

Ray Matthews, 1108 South Moniteau avenue, carries his sign in front of the Ideal Food Market, 811 West Main street, while his former employer Virgil Corson, looks on from his door. Matthews is a veteran of World War I while Corson, is a veteran of World War II. Matthews is a butcher and a member of Local 520A, A. M. C. & B. W. N. A. of A. F. of L., and managed the store while Corson was in the service. (Staff Photo).

Former Employee of Ideal Market Seeks Union Contract

Appearing today in front of the Ideal Food Market, 811 West Main street, was a World War I veteran picketing his former boss, who is a World War II veteran. The picket was established, according to Leo LaFauce, international representative of the Amalgamated Meat Cutter and Butchers Workmen of North America (AFL), St. Louis, because of Mr. Corson's refusal to recognize and negotiate with the union local No. 520A, of which his employee is a member.

Ray Matthews, 1108 South Moniteau avenue, butcher for the Ideal Market was walking up and down in front of the store carrying a sign "This store unfair to Amalgamated Meat Cutter and Butchers Workmen of N.A. (AFL) local 520A."

Business was being carried on inside the store by Virgil Corson, proprietor and one employee. The store was a three-man employee business until Matthews went out and started picketing under orders of the union. Now the store is being handled by two men.

Corson's Statement
Mr. Corson, when asked for a statement, said, "Of course it is impossible for any dealer to do anything until after August 20, when the OPA ruling is to be made known as to whether meat will again be under price control. Which means, if it does go under price control, a meat shortage will inevitably be created. Even under present conditions when meat supply has been more or less adequate a small shop could not operate under their demands."

"My wage scale and hours are practically what they ask and demand, at present. Any little difficulties which have arisen have always been adjusted satisfactorily without any outside interference."

Can't See It Their Way
"Their demands would prohibit returned veterans from taking GI butcher training in a shop the size of mine. As I understand their demands, I would be compelled to hire two full-time union butchers to let one GI take training in this field."

Asked by a reporter if there was any hard feelings, Mr. Corson replied, "No, there isn't any against Mr. Matthews or the union organizers. I'm only disappointed, after all, I turned my business over to Mr. Matthews to manage while I was in the service."

In closing, Mr. Corson, said, "I just can't see it their way at the present time, with circumstances such as they are."

Statements Collaborated
Nick Hall, 1819 West Main street, also an international representative, and a representative of Local 520A, collaborated with the statement of La Fauce. Hall said, "The contract wouldn't mean over a difference of two hours on Matthews part."

La Fauce also remarked, "All towns and cities the size of Sedalia, and larger, are organized and there is hardly a butcher shop in any which does not recognize the union."

Body of H. G. Wells Cremated Today

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(P)—The body of H. G. Wells was cremated today.

J. B. Priestly, his friend and fellow author, said in a brief eulogy:

"This was a man whose word was light in a thousand dark places. When he was angry, it was because he knew, far better than we did, that life need not be a sordid, greedy scramble."

Only a few relatives and friends of the novelist-historian, who died at the age of 79, attended.

Girl Shot When Car Hits Bullet on Track

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—(P)—Mary Dymek, 16, was shot last night by a street car.

The girl was walking near an intersection with three friends when a trolley passed. They heard a shot, Mary screamed and jumped to the sidewalk.

Detective Henry Demordy said the girl was wounded in the right foot. Investigating, he found .22-caliber bullets lying on the car tracks.

Few Show Any Interest in State Bonus

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 16.—(P)—A discouraged committee adjourned early today because so few Missourians seemed interested enough in a veterans bonus to attend the public hearings here.

In a two-day meeting the investigating committee heard the opinions of only three organizations—the public expenditure survey, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the state chamber of commerce.

Rep. Emmett Bartram (R) of Maryville, committee chairman, said he believed Missourians just aren't interested in whether a bonus is paid to ex-servicemen. He pointed out that the public hearing had been widely publicized in newspapers and he had written or called representatives of some 20 organizations he thought would be interested.

His announcements did bring in some letters and telephone calls, however. Most of them were from veterans who thought a bonus should be paid.

One Citizen Aroused
But Bartram read one letter from a native Missourian, D. M. Lawrence of Urbana, who was opposed to the bonus idea.

The bonus would only mean "more taxes on poor people," he complained.

"The veterans are well taken care of," he declared. "They get leave pay, discharge pay, $2-20 ($20 a week unemployment compensation for a maximum of 52 weeks), four years free education with pay, free hospitalization, low rate insurance, a chance at all jobs ahead of civilians."

"So what the hell more do you want to give them—our shirts?" He added that "I am against any bonus and I have two sons who would get some of this lousy handout. They don't want it."

Burns to Death While Doing Family Washing

DONIPHAN, Mo., Aug. 16.—(P)—Mrs. Fred Pettit, 35, wife of a Ripley county farmer, died today of burns received yesterday afternoon while she was doing the family washing. Neighbors who heard an explosion, investigated and found Mrs. Pettit in a critical condition. They said they believe she was using kerosene to start a fire under a wash boiler in the yard when the explosion occurred.

Her husband was away on business and their two children were in school at the time.

Time and Times

LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 16.—(P)—Charles L. Chappel, who says he will be the only member of the California-Nevada G.A.R. department at the 80th encampment in Indianapolis Aug. 25-30, plans to go by plane.

"Trains are too slow," says 99-year-old Chappel.

Denies Reports
BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 16.—(P)—Santiago M. Peralta, Argentine director of immigration, said today he knew nothing about reports published abroad (by The United Press) that he had announced Argentina would receive 200,000 members of the exiled Polish army of Lt. Gen. Wladislaw Anders and 1,000 Norwegians as immigrants. Peralta said the government was not studying any large-scale immigration program.

Sick of Quack, Quack, Peace Delegate Says

New Zealander Calls Russians 'This Blasted Old Rot'

By William B. King
PARIS, Aug. 16.—(P)—The Russian delegation tossed the makings of a new fight between western and eastern powers into the peace conference today and the New Zealand delegate, W. J. Jordan, in an outburst of temper, denounced the Russians for "this blasted old rot."

"Let's do something," Jordan shouted in exasperation at long speeches and delays after listening to an argument by Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky. "Here we sit listening to quack, quack, quack, hour after hour. We are sick of it."

Vishinsky insisted in an organizational meeting of the political and territorial commission on Romania that only nations actually at war with the former enemy states should vote in the commissions drafting recommendations for the five peace treaties. The vote of France thus would be eliminated from the commission on Romania.

In a meeting of the commission on Finland, Soviet delegate N. V. Novikov raised the same point, which would eliminate the votes of the United States and France.

Presumably the Russians plan to raise the same questions in the commissions for Italy, Bulgaria and Hungary.

Despite Jordan's hot retort, Vishinsky insisted upon his point and the matter was left for future action. In the commission on Finland, Novikov drew a quick reply from Hector McNeil of Britain that "my government could not accept the Soviet view on this matter." In the Finnish commission, too, the Soviet declaration was noted in the minutes without further action.

Vishinsky said he would ignore "the harsh words" of the "temperamental delegate from New Zealand," but insisted "we never submit to ad hominem attacks."

Voice Broke
Jordan was so perturbed that his voice broke as he cried the words "This blasted old rot," following Vishinsky's speech.

"Let's get on with the blasted conference," Jordan cried. "Let's do something. Get a president in the chair and let's get on with our work. That's what people expect us to do."

He said the commission had met at 10 a. m. (4 a. m. EST) "and here it is 11 o'clock and we've gotten nowhere. We have not even got a chairman."

Cause of Death Unknown

BOONVILLE, Mo., Aug. 16.—(P)—A coroner's jury reported that the cause of the death of an infant whose skeleton was found in an attic here Tuesday was "unknown."

The jury recommended an investigation.

Testimony was that the skeleton, wrapped in an old housecoat and newspaper dated April, 1944, was discovered by children of Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Brosie, Negroes, in the attic of a house they bought in June, 1944.

The jury found the "child was a member of the white race and came to its death during the first part of April, 1944."

Mrs. Brosie testified she and her husband had purchased the house from a white family whose present whereabouts she did not know.

Studying Handling Of Meat

Justice Department Has Complaints Of Price Fixing, Artificial Shortages

By Brack Curry
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(P)—The Justice Department disclosed today that it is studying complaints of price fixing and artificial shortages in meat.

An official fully acquainted with the study said that since OPA price controls on meat lapsed July 1 the department has received numerous reports of various illegal trade tactics from many sections of the country.

Some of the complaints have come from within the meat industry itself, this official told a reporter, emphasizing that many meat handlers have no part in the purportedly illicit operations.

The department's investigation is being made to determine whether anti-trust prosecutions should be undertaken.

Other Complaints
In addition to reports of artificially created shortages and price fixing agreements, the official said other complaints being reviewed include:

1. Attempts to coerce the retail meat dealers into making "tie-in purchases." Some dealers have said they are being forced to buy unwanted products in order to get fresh meat.

2. The asserted large scale entry of some meat wholesalers and packers into the retail business. The anti-trust division is studying to what extent this threatens the survival of independent meat retailers.

3. Withholding of hides from the market in an attempt to get higher prices. A civilian production administration drive also is underway in this field in an effort to avert a threatened shutdown of shoe production.

Other Industries Involved
In addition to the meat and hides inquiries, the justice department official said the agency is receiving "a very large number" of complaints of private price ceilings.

He declined to name these industries.

Meat and livestock products were among several items which congress, in reviving OPA last month, decreed should be left free of price control until at least August 20. Final say on restoring ceilings was left up to the new decontrol board which concluded four days of public hearings on the subject yesterday.

Need For Inquiry
CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(P)—Geo. Dressler, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers, said in a statement today there is a "definite need for the department of justice to come into an investigation of the meat business."

Commenting on the report from Washington that the department of justice had received complaints of price fixing and artificial shortages, Dressler said "there is a monopolistic trend among large operators, such as some chain stores, to gain control of the food distribution field and freeze out the historic independent retail store."

He added that "these interests control their livestock from the field to the meat consumer and definitely are a monopoly and threat to the economic welfare of small business of the nation."

More Rain in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—(P)—Torrential rains continued in this area last night and early today, flooding streets and homes and causing widespread property damage.

Nearly eight inches of rain fell here during the last 24 hours, bringing the total for the month to 14.92 inches, an all-time record for August.

Two boys were reported drowned when they were sucked into an open manhole while swimming in a flooded street. The bodies have not been recovered.

Wide areas of the city, county as well as parts of Illinois across the Mississippi river, were flooded for the second time in 24 hours. Many families living in lowlands were driven from their homes and some had to be rescued by boat.

Telephone, electric and transportation service was disrupted, automobiles stalled and train, bus and airline schedules disrupted.

Air travel was halted when Lambert-St. Louis field was flooded. Numerous houses and buildings were struck by lightning.

The city of Belleville, Ill., was virtually isolated when a creek which runs through the city went out of its banks and inundated roads and homes.

Illinois highways were impassable in places and a number of trains had to be rerouted.

Three Women Killed
DANBURY, Ia., Aug. 16.—(P)—Three women were killed a mile east of here today, when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a Chicago Northwestern passenger train.

Pressure Vests For Polio

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 16.—(P)—War-developed pneumatic pressure vests fliers wore at high altitudes are being experimentally used at University of Minnesota hospitals as possible treatment for the bulbar type of poliomyelitis, Dr. George Holt, physician at the college's polio clinic, said last night.

The vests have not been used enough to test their full effectiveness, Dr. Holt said, adding however that they "might play an important part in the bulbar cases, which cannot be treated in iron lungs."

Dr. Holt said arrangements have been made to fly ten additional vests here from Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, today, together with an air compressor which will act as a pulsator, from South Norwalk, Conn.

The vests, developed by John D. Akerman, head of the aeronautical engineering division at the university, consist of double layers of neoprene-treated nylon. Placed over a patient's chest, air is pumped in and out by a pulsator at a normal breathing rate of about twenty times a minute.

Warrant for Prosecutor

LAMAR, Mo., Aug. 16.—(P)—Warrants for the arrest of Roth H. Faubion, 44, Barton county prosecutor, on charges of felonious assault and common assault were unserved today awaiting Faubion's release from a Kansas City hospital where he is under treatment for a nervous condition.

Clyde Combs, assistant prosecutor, who filed the felonious assault case Wednesday, said he understood that Faubion had sent a letter of resignation to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly at Jefferson City.

Combs, who was appointed assistant by Faubion after the prosecutor had entered the hospital, said he filed the charge upon the complaint of Howard Jones, Fort Scott, Kas. Jones asserted Faubion fired two shots from a revolver at him and three companions Friday night on the town square. None of the four was struck by the shots.

The charge of common assault was filed yesterday on complaint of Mrs. Perl Helms that Faubion had slapped her son Floyd, 14, Friday night shortly before the alleged shooting incident.

Sheriff James Bassett said he would serve the warrants on Faubion upon his release from hospital, not expected by his physicians before several days.

Auto Workers To Reopen Wage Contract

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(P)—The CIO United Automobile Workers' executive board announced today it will reopen its wage agreement Oct. 16 at Chrysler corporation and any other companies where contract provisions permit.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told a news conference after a session of the executive board that the intervening 60 days will be used to evaluate government efforts to hold back inflation, and on the basis of that study the extent of wage demands, if any, will depend.

Reuther explained this does not mean a wave of wage demands. He expressed the hope that such a development will not be necessary and that the government, instead, could control the situation. He said the whole issue depends on what the decontrol board, OPA and the agriculture department do to control prices.

Conference Held
In this connection Reuther and other CIO leaders today conferred with reversion director John R. Steelman, OPA administrator of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson to convey the CIO's policy on wages and prices.

Reuther said that 50 to 60 percent of the Auto Workers' 850,000 members are under contracts which could be reopened on 30 to 60 days' notice.

"The continued failure of government to roll prices back and hold them down compels us to exercise our option to reopen our wage contracts in order to protect our living standards," the executive board said in a statement.

Reuther explained that the executive board's move had been taken after consultation with other CIO leaders and "does not conflict with CIO policy."

Announcement On Food and Feeds Tuesday

Decontrol Board Warns Against Trying to Guess

By Edwin B. Haakinson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(P)—With a curt warning against trying to guess what it will do about price controls on major foods and feeds, the decontrol board promised today to announce its verdict Tuesday.

"Any past speculation as to our decision or any major speculation between now and next Tuesday is pulled out of thin air," said Chairman Roy L. Thompson in a statement for the three-member board.

During the five days remaining the new independent agency must reach decisions that congress could not agree upon for weeks, as it let OPA die June 30 and then revived it in a sharply modified form July 25.

Since June 30 there have been no price ceilings on milk, butter, meats, grains and a long list of foodstuffs for a trial period that ends next Tuesday, August 20.

Unless the panel steps in, the old price lids will apply again Wednesday.

For the last four days the board listened to more than 100 witnesses argue why it should or should not act.

Ruling August 20
In announcing that the board will hand down its ruling "on the night of August 20," Thompson added:

"In order to avoid any possible inconveniences in commodity markets and affected industries, the board will release simultaneously its decisions of all commodities under consideration."

Specifically, these are grains, livestock, cottonseed and soybeans, and dairy products.

Thompson said that while the board had asked other government agencies for information, "we did not ask any government agency for any recommendations as to what it believes the board should do."

This was widely interpreted as a mild rebuke to two members of the wage stabilization board, W. Willard Wirtz and Philip L. Garrison, who made public a recommendation during the hearings that prices be restored to June 30 levels and that subsidies be restored to help battle inflation.

Frank Biscan, Pitcher, Irked

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16.—(P)—Irked because he was assigned an upper berth instead of a lower, Pitcher Frank Biscan of the St. Louis Browns stalked off the train and remained behind when the team left for Cleveland to play the Indians, Secretary Charles Dewitt of the Browns reported today.

"He's paid to play baseball," Dewitt said. "He wasn't here for the game yesterday and so far as I'm concerned he's off the payroll."

Dewitt said Biscan's status as a player was up to the Browns' manager, Luke Sewell, the manager, was not available for comment.

P.S.: Cleveland won last night's game 3-2.

OPA Prices for Building Materials Are Expected to be Announced Soon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(P)—OPA hung a price-hike tag of "well over $150,000,000 a year" on radios, stoves, washers and many another household item today—and ground out still more bad news for consumers.

On top of price boosts ranging from 3 to 12 per cent on 20 groups of mainly home essentials, the agency announced:

1. An immediate increase of one to two cents for draught and bottled beer served in bars, restaurants and hotels.

2. New price ceilings for used automobiles made this year or in 1945.

3. White sidewall tire ceilings 12.5 per cent higher than maximum prices on other tires.

4. Higher prices for stationery and book paper.

In addition, OPA officials said that ceiling increases for virtually all kinds of building materials will be announced soon, as required by the new price control law.

Bosox Feel Certain of A Pennant

Chapman of Philadelphia
Hits 3 Homers

By Joe Reichler
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The pennant bound Boston Red Sox—and even the most conservative Red Sox rooters now feel certain their team will win this year—can all but sew up the American league flag if they are able to sweep the four-game series that opens today with the New York Yankees.

Although it may be another month before the Sox can make it a mathematical certainty, the race has reached a point where a mild winning streak by the Sox—especially against their closest competitors, will make the Yankees and Detroit Tigers start thinking about next year.

If the Red Sox, now enjoying a 12-game lead, beat the Yankees in all four games and go on to play 500 ball in their remaining 37 contests, the Yankees will be faced with the difficult task of winning 37 of their remaining 39 games in order to steal the pennant.

Boston has 41 games left, eight with the Yankees with whom they have split even in 14 engagements. The Yankees have 43 games left.

Yanks Sweep Doubleheader
The Yanks prepared for their Hub invasion yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Washington Senators at the Yankee stadium 6-1 and 7-2. Homers in each game by Charlie Keller, his 21st and 22nd, helped rookie pitchers Bill Wight and Randy Gumpert gain their second and eighth victories, respectively.

Outfielder Sam Chapman ran riot in Philadelphia, hitting three home runs, to lead the Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the Red Sox. Ted Williams of Boston is the only other big leaguer to hammer three round trippers in one game this season.

Hal Newhouse, whose hopes of winning 30 games this year suffered a serious blow when he lost two games in succession following his 20th victory July 27, came through with a splendid 3-0 shutout victory over the Chicago White Sox in Detroit to give the young Tiger left-hander a fighting chance to yet realize his ambition.

In the torrid National league race, the first place Brooklyn Dodgers increased their margin to two games over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals by trampling the New York Giants 7-1.

Edwards Tied Record
Catcher Bruce Edwards of the Dodgers tied a major league record for assists with three in the fourth inning. The last time it was done was by Bill Dickey of the Yankees in 1929.

The Cincinnati Reds snapped a nine-game losing streak when they defeated the Cubs in Chicago 9-3 in the first game of a doubleheader but reverted to their losing ways when the Cubs beat them 3-2 in the nightcap.

The Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils divided a twin bill at Boston, the Phils outlasting the Tribesmen 15-11 in a free hitting first game and the Braves winning the second 3-1. Jim Tabor, with a grand slam homer, and Johnny Wyrostek also got three of Philadelphia's seven hits off Bill Lee in the nightcap.

Aided by Manager Lou Boudreau's two-run triple, the Cleveland Indians pushed over three runs in the fourth inning of their home night game with the St. Louis Browns to win 3-2.

The scheduled night contest between the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates was postponed by rain.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—You may not agree with Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler's ruling opening the doors to John W. Galbreath and closing them to Mickey Owen, but you'll have to agree that Happy made his own decisions. At various times the commissioner has been charged with avoiding such things. Maybe it is tough on Owen, but Mickey must have known when he went to Mexico that he would be considered a contract jumper, even though his just-out-of-the-navy status was unusual. If Charlie had been lenient this time, a lot of other players might figure "I'll get more dough in Mexico and if I don't like it I can always jump back." That would make running a ball club difficult, to say the least. As for Galbreath, who should know better than a Kentuckian that horsemen aren't necessarily undesirable.

Jake LaMotta, who takes on light heavyweight Bob Satterfield in Chicago next time out, would like a shot at France's Marcel Cerdan. Jake's supporters say this collision would be something to see because they both punch incessantly, but Matchmaker Nat Rogers figures Cerdan wouldn't take on such tough opposition for his first U. S. Appearance. Glen Conley of the Cleveland Rams plays, makes and sells tackle—fishing tackle, that is, for the last two. When Denver U. began practice for its season football opener against Oklahoma Aggies, Coach Cae Hubbard listed 43 pre-war and current lettermen. The Aggies' Jim Lookabaugh figures he'll have ten out-numbered with 44 such guys he can call on.

2,500 Attend Barbecue

EMPORIA, Kas., Aug. 16.—(P)—Stockmen up and down the famous blue steppes of Kansas—60 per cent of their 300,000 cattle already marketed—looked with uncertainty toward Washington today for the answer on meat controls before deciding how far to go with fall feeding plans in this area producing much of the nation's beef.

From miles around they gathered on the sprawling 1,160 acre Clarence Delong ranch near here yesterday, ate their own steak and heard one livestock leader predict the decontrol board would clamp new price controls on meat by Tuesday, deadline for new OPA regulations over commodities.

It was the blue stem country's annual barbecue, top social event of the cattle-feeding season in the Kansas grasslands that comes after the bulk of the beef from the 16,000 square mile region is well on the way to market.

Some 2,500 gathered. They came from Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma as well as Kansas. They ate 1,500 pounds of steak and listened as Fred Clander, a director of the Kansas City Livestock Exchange, forecast reinstatement of meat controls and a revival of the black market.

Wild Horse Senses Fight Horse Census

The wild ponies of the Outer Banks of the Carolinas rebel at annual August roundup. Riot leader in this dramatic photo of equine defiance is the stallion at center, shown as he loosed his fury on other horses in the pen. He killed one colt, injured several before he was cut out of the band and released.

By NEA Service
JEFFERSON CITY, N. C.—(NEA)—The census takers are invading the sandy privacy of the Outer Banks again to count the noses of the wild ponies who are free to carry on as they please on the runes all year long—except in August.

Ever since they paved their way up the coarse beaches of the banks some 300 years ago, when legend says a Spanish ship loaded with fine horses was wrecked off the coast, they have led their own lives. The strongest stallions have the biggest harems of mares, and this year's colts will some day fight for the role of leader of the banks' stallions.

And while they're free, because these wild creatures have little economic value, they still have owners who come from the mainland each year with ropes and branding irons to count the new foals and otherwise check the equine population.

Few Are Sold
These owners find census taking no simple job. They must build a pen, and then beat the dunes to drive the ponies down the banks to the trap, where owners decide which youngsters will bear their respective brands by watching which mares they are following. Each year a few ponies may be sold for $50 to $150 and taken to the mainland to be used as pets or riders, but most of them are turned loose to continue their precarious existence.

Wise old stallions often outwit the census takers for days at a time, leading their herds at a mad gallop through the line of beaters and into the sea, coming ashore at a point far down the banks. And once in the pens, the stallions create small horse riots that make the branding ceremonies as wild as a western rodeo.

Once they were so numerous they would swim across the sound to the mainland, where they raced wildly up and down the hard oyster roads, disturbing Sabbath worship.

And once a pony that had been brought to the mainland after branding escaped from his civilized stall, waded and swam six miles to Shackleford banks, rounded Cape Lookout, traveled up the lonely Core banks, plunged into Drum Inlet, followed the beach to Portsmouth, and finally breasted the dangerous currents of Ocracoke Inlet. That pony will have his freedom forever.

Some for Tax On Gambling

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 16.—(P)—Taxes on pari-mutuel betting and on slot machines have been suggested to a legislative committee investigating ways and means of financing bonuses for Missouri War Veterans.

Rep. Emmett Bartran (R) of Nodaway county, chairman of the committee, said he had received three telephone calls from Veterans near his home town of Maryville recommending the tax on forms of gambling now outlawed. Bartran declined to identify his callers, but said they were "interested in horse racing."

A Willow Springs Veteran suggested in a letter that war service be recognized by a life certificate permitting Veterans to deduct $25 a year from their income, real or personal property taxes.

Other letters urged a state bonus which could be financed by increasing the two per cent sales tax, the two-cent a gallon gasoline tax, or the property taxes. The sales tax increase would cover only articles not defined as "life's necessities."

Social Events

A clever and appropriate party, which was a take off on the state fair, was enjoyed Thursday evening for forty members of the Business and Professional Women's club at their social meeting at the country home of Mrs. Rose Hausam, Route 4.

Decorations were placards advertising various events at the Missouri State Fair.

Guests were first invited to the midway where they took a ride on the "merry-go-round." In a contest of pitching clothespins into a bottle Miss Hazel Palmer and Miss Pearl Rose excelled.

The highlights of the evening were the patchwork quilts to be entered at the fair. Each group was given a box containing scraps of different kinds of material and pins, and each person was given a piece of paper on which to pin the pieces they selected from the box through the holes given them. For what well dressed ladies wore they found a piece of lace in the box and a piece of net for fishermen, and when they had found a suitable piece of material for each clue they had their patchwork quilt finished.

Passing a balloon on a paper plate, passing an egg on a spoon, a horse race and a baby contest all brought their share of laughter and the games ended with bingo and fireworks.

After the games the guests were invited into the house where they were served ice cream fill-ups.

The committee assisting Mrs. Hausam was composed of Mrs. L. P. McClure, social chairman, Miss Betty Quint, Mrs. Earl Manley, Mrs. Marie Spendiff, Miss Grace Carter, Mrs. George Janneau, Miss Alice Alexander, Mrs. Ollie McMullin, and Miss Bertha Rose.

Miss Mary Hogan, Miss Adah Meredith and Mr. Walter Baird, of Knob Noster, entertained with a dinner at the Bothwell Hotel Sunday honoring Miss Edna Chalfant, who has spent the summer with her sister, Mrs. George E. Campbell and family, near Warrensburg, and who is to leave soon for Boston, Mass., where she is a teacher. The dinner also honored the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Charles F. Covey and George Gallaher, of Knob Noster. Guests were: Mrs. Edward S. Hazard, Jr., Alva, Okla.; Miss Anna Chalfant and Peggy Ann Taylor, Venice, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Campbell and daughter, Edna Jo, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott and Miss Mary Ellen Daley, Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Covey, daughter, Miss Betty Ann Covey, and son, Billy Dan, Mrs. Eula Patton, Mrs. T. E. Beatty and Mr. and Mrs. George Gallaher and daughter, Miss Mary Helen Gallaher.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Hart, 721 East Ninth street, announce the engagement and the approaching marriage of their daughter Mary Ruth to Jackson R. Veneable, son of Mrs. George Leffler of route 5. The marriage will take place at the home of the bride's parents at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Lucky Lad

Being only 2½ years old, Andrew Safford of Syosset, N. Y., doesn't realize what a lucky lad he is. He was playing with his toy train on the Long Island railroad tracks. A quick-witted passing trainman saw him and at the next station phoned back to Syosset police. A squad car arrived just in time for policemen to snatch the boy from the tracks as the crack Cannonball Express from New York thundered by.

DEAR SIS:

This is the red letter day in my life! Congratulate me, sis. I baked my first pie—pineapple! And from the chunk my husband ate I'm positive he likes it. Looks like I'm on the way to being a good housewife, doesn't it?

Last Sunday Jack and I went to church at the base. After the service we invited Chaplain Clayborn Landers for dinner. Chaplain Landers, who is a very nice person, is from Dexter, Missouri, and showed a true southern enthusiasm for fried chicken. I never saw one man eat so much fried chicken at one sitting. It's been so long since he's had a good home cooked meal that he just couldn't seem to get enough. I felt like an experienced cook.

The base chapel is small but charming. About 75 or 100 people can worship there at the same time. Both Catholic and Protestant services are held, but at different hours. I haven't been to any of the village churches, but those in Munich were badly damaged by bombs. All that's left of some of the beautiful churches is the framework.

Not long ago we drove to Starnberg lake, about 30 miles from Munich, where there is a rest

How to Win Friends and Influence Good Neighbors; Guns-Military Trips

By BOYD LEWIS
NEA Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO—(NEA)—In a current Broadway musical hit, Ethel Merman sings that "you can't get a man with a gun."

But in the field of inter-American relations, diplomats find that you CAN win nations with guns and it is a known fact that in every South American country which has had a military mission from another country, its political orientation has favored the country from which that mission came.

That's why there is strong diplomatic support for President Truman's Hemisphere Defense bill. That bill would authorize the U. S. to offer all Latin American nations U. S. military missions.

U. S. Ambassador to Brazil William D. Pawley told correspondents visiting South America by Pan-American World Airways that he believes this bill would home Friday, having been discharged from Lambert Field, St. Louis. He enlisted in June, 1944, took his boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., and went from there to Shoemaker, Calif., where he was assigned to the ship Rotarian.

He spent several months on Seipan, Guam and Pearl Harbor and returned to San Diego on the aircraft carrier Gilbert Islands.

On leaving San Diego harbor they sailed through the Panama canal, going to Norfolk, Va., where the ship was decommissioned. Bridges was then assigned to the battleship Massachusetts.

Ribbons and medals received were the America area ribbon, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon, the Victory medal and the Third Fleet medal. He plans to go to college this fall.

Mrs. A. M. Smith accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Veith of Pilot Grove and her mother-in-law Mrs. Emma Smith of Jamestown to Sedalia Friday where they visited several relatives including Mrs. Mollie Newton and Mrs. Ray Dimwiddle.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Keul and daughter Patricia visited Sunday with another daughter Mrs. E. N. Dailey and Mr. Dailey of Fulton, Missouri.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The Inter-American Military Cooperation Bill, which is strongly supported by U. S. diplomats in South America, is believed to stand little chance of passage at this session of Congress.

It has been reported favorably by the House Foreign Relations Committee but chances of it coming to a vote by the House are believed slim. In the Senate the bill is before the Subcommittee on Foreign Affairs with no chance it will be reported out or acted upon by the full committee during this session.

be a tremendous influence for peace in the hemisphere and that every nation in the hemisphere would leap at the opportunity to receive a mission from the victorious veterans of World War II.

To understand why the accreditation of a few soldiers and sailors to one of these countries should have so powerful an influence, you must understand that in practically every South American nation, the army is all-powerful. A part of this setup is that selected officers go to the United States to be trained in our staff schools. They experience our hospitality and learn our language and ways. Often they marry North American girls.

Pawley likes to tell the story of a Peruvian general of his acquaintance. Peru, being an admirer of the pre-war French army, had a French mission and this general had become thoroughly inculcated with the French military view.

About a year ago he accepted an opportunity to attend the U. S. Army Staff College in Washington. With his wife and son he settled down in Washington.

Shanghai Not The City It Formerly Was

Inherited Many Problems After Japanese Had It

By Spencer Moosa (For Hal Boyle)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Confused and expensive Shanghai, once the Queen City of the Orient, is not what it used to be, and many an old China hand sheds a quiet tear as he predicts that it never will be again.

The tolerant minority say the Chinese inherited many new and difficult problems when they took back a city which had been occupied by the Japanese for eight years and which before that was famed for its smoothly-run international settlement and French concession.

The Bund, famous waterfront street along the Whangpoo, is no longer a clean, orderly thoroughfare. Peddlers spread their wares in the street. Touts importuning passersby, offer all sorts of merchandise and service. "Pedicabs," cycle drawn rickshaws that became popular during the war, jam the sidewalks with no repro for the police.

Restaurants Line Streets. In the Central district, business heart of this metropolis of 4,000,000, portable restaurants line some of the main streets.

Open-air stalls make traffic in some of the streets. Blood Alley, which derived its name from the number of fights spawned in its third-rate dance halls and bars.

Blood Alley's stalls, overflowing the sidewalks, now have spilled out into the street. The proprietors offer a wide variety of goods: Cosmetics, glassware, plastic belts, chocolate bars, cigarettes and mosquito nets. They do a thriving business.

An importer who had brought in some winter rain coats to retail at $80 U. S. found that before he could get his cargo cleared through customs, some of his coats were on sale in these stalls at half the price. They came, as did much other merchandise, from Shanghai's busy thieves.

Must Make Living Dr. K. C. Wu, Shanghai's Princeton-educated mayor, says these stallholders cannot be cleared out because they are refugees from communist-dominated areas and have to have a livelihood. Many a Shanghaiander, however, claims there are more business racketeers than refugees.

Stealing of ships' cargoes is one of many Shanghai rackets, but strictly in the big-league class. Importers estimate their losses from theft run into hundreds of millions of Chinese dollars monthly.

Minor rackets also flourish. Among these is the so-called "push." Gangs of hoodlums help shove pedicabs and rickshaws over the bridges of Soochow creek and demand money for their uninvited aid. Refusal brings swift indignities and violence.

Shanghai Is Expensive A taxi ride which used to cost the equivalent of 33 cents, U. S. now costs $3 U. S. Luncheon and a couple of beers at a good hotel cost $15 to $20 U. S. for two persons.

Night clubs, second-rate by any standard, often charge $3.50 or $4 U. S. a drink, and the liquor usually is a dangerous home-made concoction locally known as "Hong-kew Hootch," regardless of what the label says.

If you become ill from the liquor or for any other reason, you are lucky to get out for $20 U. S. daily at any of the better hospitals, and that is without medicines or any form of extra service.

New Type Dogs For The Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The army announced today it is dipping into a new generation of dogs—German shepherds only—for scout service with the infantry.

The organization will consist of four platoons of 27 each at Camp Campbell, Ky., Fort Bragg, N. C., Fort Lewis, Wash., and Fort Riley, Kas.

The platoons will be built around younger veterans of the wartime K-9 Corps.

Nearly all of the 20,000 animals which served during the war have been "detrained," which is to say gentled to civilian behavior, and discharged to their original owners.

The quartermaster corps plans to buy 30 German shepherd dogs a year for replacements. They must be one to two and a half years old.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—President Truman shoved off on an 18-day vacation cruise at 2:32 p. m. EST. today.

The presidential yacht Williamsburg pulled away from its dock at the naval gun factory, heading for the Atlantic and a swing up the New England coast.

The chief executive is due back in Washington on September 2nd. Mr. Truman spent the morning clearing his desk in preparation for the trip.

Escapes From County Jail

About 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, as Ernest Beyer, deputy sheriff was making his round at the county jail, he noticed a white T shirt hanging on a tree in back of the jail and upon investigation found that Sterling W. Nichols had escaped.

Nichols had gained entrance to the attic and found a loose board in the roof which he pushed out, thereby escaping. A number of years ago another prisoner had cut a hole in the roof and when it was patched only a thin sheeting was placed over the hole and then covered with roofing, thereby making a weak spot in the roof for an easy exit.

Being held on a petit larceny charge, Nichols was to appear before the October term of the criminal court.

Campaign to Care for 'Rags'

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 16.—(AP)—There's a glass jar on the bar at Gordon's tavern for the pennies the people of Montgomery street hope to collect to save the life of Rags, the big sheep dog who doesn't belong to anyone in particular but who has been the long-standing friend of policemen, kids, and neighborhood toppers alike for years.

Rags began to go blind three weeks ago. When his back legs began to weaken too, the worried kids pooled their pennies and took Rags to a veterinarian. The vet said Rags had leukemia.

There wasn't much hope for Rags, this was the first case of dog contracting the rare disease he had seen in 10 years, the vet reported; but the kids said they'd keep trying anyway.

And so today throughout Montgomery street the campaign is on—the kids want "Care and Comfort" for Rags.

Veterans Purchase 'License to Howl'

World War II Memorial Post No. 5741. Veterans of Foreign Wars indicated their desire for further civic progress by subscribing for a membership in the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

At its regular meeting Wednesday night the proposal for membership was presented and some of the comments passed by various ones present indicated that there was a lot to complain about.

However it was the general attitude that they as an organization were not entitled to criticize others unless they were themselves contributors to the civic welfare, and constructive criticism is always in order.

Diplomats Disillusioned

By Romney Wheeler

PARIS, Aug. 16.—(AP)—"I don't know if diplomats are ever disillusioned," a gloomy member of the British commonwealth peace delegation said today, "but if this peace conference doesn't disillusion 'em they can't be disillusioned."

Then he added as an afterthought: "This is like no peace conference I ever heard about—in fact, I sometimes wonder if it's really a peace conference."

Will Keep His Engagement

MEREDITH, N. H., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Bishop G. Bromley Oxman, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, said today he intended to keep a speaking engagement in Knoxville, Tenn., despite what he termed an attempt to prevent him from appearing there.

The Bishop said he had heard of a published report in Knoxville, linking his name to several allegedly communist organizations. Describing this as "perfectly absurd," he said that he knew nothing about several of the organizations listed.

Bishop Oxman said he was scheduled to address the East Tennessee Education Association at Knoxville on November 1.

"I was invited to speak," he said, "and I accepted. I will keep the engagement."

Bound Over to Higher Court

G. W. Anson, attorney for Armand J. Weaver, 612 West Fifth street, pleaded to W. E. Scotten this morning, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, to dismiss Weaver, as the state, represented by Leo J. Harned, had insufficient evidence to convict Weaver as charged, with intoxicated driving.

However, Harned told Judge Scotten that it was for a jury to decide whether or not the state had sufficient evidence to convict Weaver, and not him. Therefore, Scotten bound Weaver over to the October term of the criminal court. He was released on a $1,000 signed bond.

During the court session, a witness, Dr. E. C. Snively, county physician, testified that Weaver was intoxicated when he saw him at the hospital after the accident in July in which Weaver was involved.

Jailed in Germany

Ex-Sgt. Ralph K. Betz, above, of Willoughby, Ohio, found jobs so scarce and prices so high in the U. S. that he stowed away on a Europe-bound troopship, managed to hitch-hike to Mannheim, Germany, where he sought a civilian job. After being shunted around by various military agencies pending investigation, he was finally jailed at Bad Nauheim for failure to report to the provost-marshal. Betz says he has never seen any formal charges against him and has not been able to get a lawyer.

He added that the Communist program "contains a threat to resort to revolutionary means if the capitalist class forsakes the ground of democracy."

Quits as Head of Police Board

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Mark D. Eagleton resigned as chairman of the St. Louis police board today because he disagreed with Gov. Phil M. Donnelly's contention that St. Louis policemen should not receive pay increases provided in a pending bill.

Donnelly said he would sign the bill, but indicated that "no person who belongs to the union should be promoted."

Eagleton told a press conference in the governor's office he was resigning "because I dissent in the governor's stand."

Donnelly gave no indication of whom he would select to replace the St. Louis lawyer as chairman of the board.

He said, however, the board would give union members an opportunity to resign from the union, possibly during a specified ten-day period. Upon their resignation their previous union membership would not be held against their promotion or increase in pay.

Schoolmaster Sent to Prison

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 16.—(AP)—George W. Balles, Jr., 33, former headmaster of the now closed Warmistown Academy, was sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in prison today on rape and morals charges involving students at the school.

Judge Harold G. Knight fixed the penalty after refusing a motion for new trial from Defense Attorney Edward B. Duffy, who based the plea on what he termed newly discovered evidence. Duffy said an appeal will be taken to superior court.

District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie objected to a new trial and announced at the same time he was investigating activities of Balles lately while he has been at liberty on his $15,000 bail.

Mrs. Balles, who was convicted with her husband, but won a new trial, was in the court room when sentence was pronounced. She kissed Balles before he was taken away to Montgomery county prison.

Crosby on Air In October—HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Bing Crosby, after several months of vacationing from the radio, goes back on the air in October.

The lure is $30,000 a week from the Philco Corporation. It's the highest salary ever, says American Broadcasting company, toppling Jack Benny by about $2,500 a week.

But the one thing that sold Bing on the idea, propounded by his brother-manager, Everett Crosby, is that he can make his program as he pleases and it will be transcribed for presentation at the regular hour.

Bing doesn't like to do his radio programs in public. He'd rather wear a slouchy hat, roomy sports coat, slacks and sing with his pipe in his mouth, as he does on his phonograph recordings.

The program will be broadcast to 600 stations in the United States, South America, Australia and Europe.

Hannegan Denies He Will Resign—WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Robert E. Hannegan commented "It's not true" when questioned today about a published report that he will resign as Democratic national chairman immediately after the November elections.

At the White House, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross also told newsmen "There isn't a word of truth" in the report.

The reports which drew the comment said Hannegan would leave his party post, but continue on as postmaster general. They attributed the step to a policy disagreement with President Truman.

Former First Lady is Black And Blue

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, involved in an automobile accident Wednesday afternoon near Yonkers, wrote today in her syndicated column in the New York Herald-Tribune:

"I myself am quite well, though for some time I shall look as though I had been in a football game without having taken any training."

"My eyes are black and blue. In fact, I am black and blue pretty much all over," the former First Lady said. "If I tied a bandana around my head I think I would resemble some of the Pirates of Penzance."

She said two front teeth, cracked in a fall at Utica "a great many years ago" were broken in the accident.

"I shall have two lovely porcelain ones, which will look for better than the rather protruding teeth which most of the Roosevelts have," she wrote.

"I have never had a motor accident before and had no idea that the sun, together with the fact that I had no one sitting by to talk to me, could have such a bad effect in making me so drowsy," Mrs. Roosevelt said.

"I can only be thankful to a kind Providence if no one was seriously hurt."

Appeal for 'Real Picture'

By Daniel Dulace
FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, war department director of information, appealed here today to American correspondents to "paint the real picture of Germany instead of merely the superficial picture of the pregnant frailein, general diseases and scandals."

The former wartime corps commander on the western front asserted that "the bulk of the people at home think this is a den of iniquity."

"The whole business of whether we maintain an army overseas—keeping on with the occupation of Germany and Japan to make sure that we did not fight in vain—depends upon public support," he continued.

"Our mistakes are not of intent, but of purely human failings. We will not cover up scandal. But I believe that scandal is only a part of the story of the occupation."

Gen. Collins said the war department would continue to invite leading editors and publishers to tour Germany as army guests to obtain a "better understanding of the complexities of our task."

Did Not Warn Commission

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—John Brunner, former associate of Benjamin F. Fields, told house investigators today he did nothing to earn a commission on a deal in wire screening but Fields told him he would receive one.

Fields, whose transactions in surplus government property are under investigation by the House surplus property committee, has testified that Brunner is the "John Doe" to whom a commission of $1,480.93 was paid.

Explaining his connection with Fields, Brunner said he actually worked for Rockingham Market as a salesman. He described this as an organization dealing in food products and said the owners are Mrs. Fields and her brother, W. W. Duffield.

He said he supposed Fields had suggested giving him a commission on the screening deal because of work he had been doing for Rockingham.

Ban Newsmen From Studios

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Barring of correspondents of the Time and Life magazines from Warner Brothers studios as a result of an article in last week's Time today was attributed to "accumulative opinion" of studio officials.

Alex Evolve, Warners' publicity director, said he regarded the "general tone" of the article, which concerned the 20th anniversary of the sound picture, as "harsh." "I would hesitate to point to any particular passage as objectionable," he said.

In New York, Time Inc., commented:

"Although we are sorry Warner Brothers has decided to ban our reporters from their studios we shall continue to review their new pictures and to cover the news from their studios."

Evolve said he had informed Time and Life representatives in Hollywood that it was the "accumulative opinion" of studio executives that they will find "nothing of interest on the Warner lot."

"We are not attempting to abridge the critical prerogative of any writer, but we feel that this article is an attack on the studio."

Fined Ten Dollars—THOMAS Chancellors, 419 North Hill avenue, was arrested about 3 o'clock this morning on a charge of assault. He was placed in the city jail and upon appearing before Police Judge W. E. Scotten this morning, pleaded guilty and was fined $10, which he paid.

Refuse to Act On Agreement—WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The U. S. court of appeals for the District of Columbia today refused to take an action which would have set aside the agreement between the government and John L. Lewis covering unionized supervisory workers at four mines.

Loser in the stand was the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation. The court refused the corporation's request for a preliminary injunction against the agreement, "irreparable injury" as a result of the agreement, signed July 17 between Admiral Ben Moreell, coal mines administrator, and Lewis supervisory workers union.

Immediately involved were 136 supervisory workers at four steel company mines in Western Pennsylvania.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

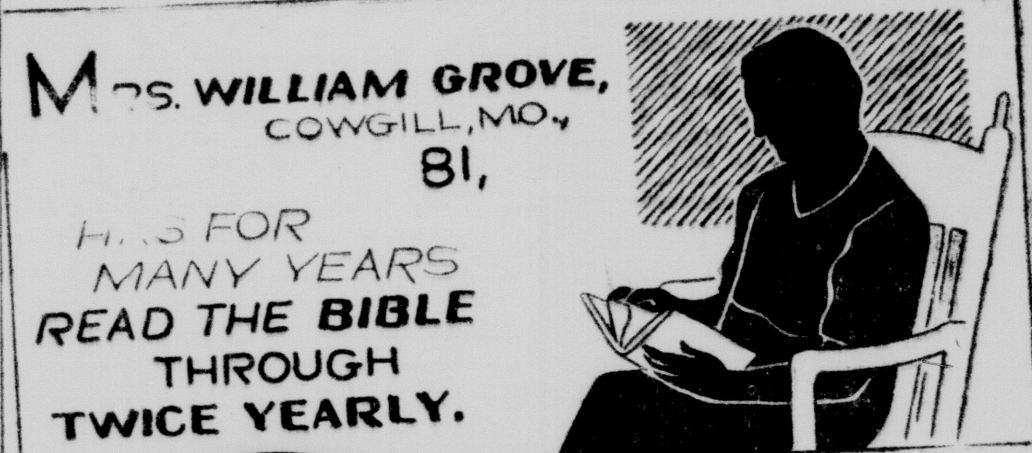

"SOUL" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ. Scientist, on Sunday, August 18, 1946.

Golden Text: Luke 14:47. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For God giveth to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy; (Ecclesiastes 2:26 to 3). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul. Higher enjoyments alone can satisfy the cravings of immortal man. We cannot circumscribe happiness within the limits of personal sense. The senses confer no real enjoyment." (p. 60).

No. 9456. Executor's Notice. Notice is hereby given, that Letters of Administration upon the Estate of David H. Robinson, deceased, were granted to the undersigned on the 25th day of July, 1946, by the Probate Court of Pettis County, Missouri.

All persons having claims against said Estate are required to exhibit them for allowance to the Executor within six months after the date of said letters or they may be precluded from any benefit of such estate, and if such claims be not exhibited within one year from the date of this publication, they shall be forever barred.

This 25th day of July, 1946. JEANNE ROBINSON STARK, Executor. Attested by me this 25th day of July, 1946. J. E. SMITH, Judge of Probate Court. 8, 9, 16, 8, 23, 8, 30.

Horror In Georgia

Four Negroes were murdered recently in Walton County, Georgia, to uphold a doctrine that is known as "white supremacy." Thousands of other Negroes have been tortured, beaten and killed in the past seven or eight decades lest the man with the black skin forget his "place."

One of the underlying tragedies in all this is that while a great many people are quick to express horror over such atrocities, they are not so easily aroused over a doctrine that prompts supporters to disgrace the name of American democracy.

Lynching is race prejudice in its most violent and abhorrent form. It must be combatted as a brutal and degrading anachronism in this Christian and free country. But if those who shudder at the sight of the lynchers' victims refuse to give serious thought to fighting the perverted and criminal doctrine that inspires mob-murder, nothing very constructive may be expected.

The challenge is not solely to the people of Georgia or any of those states where race bigots have so often taken up guns and ropes to teach the Negro "a lesson." It is to the people of all the nation. Protests have been voiced, of course, but, more important, there must be a renewed will to oppose through educational and interracial good will programs the ignorance, stupidity and un-Christian philosophy that marks a man for cruel and inhuman treatment merely because he is a Negro.

Polio Defies Every Known Medicine
By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
The outlook for recovery from infantile paralysis varies with the extent of the infection and the extent to which the spinal cord is involved. There is no known medicine or serum which will combat the infection, and neither penicillin nor any of the sulfa drugs is of value in treatment. Prompt medical attention and good nursing-care are advisable, to prevent complications of the infection. In the mild type of infantile paralysis (that which is without paralysis) the patient is kept in bed and given plenty of liquids and, if necessary, sedatives. If the child victim is disinclined to eat, he should not be forced to do so, because of the short period of illness and the tendency to vomit. Hot Packs Relieve Pain Hot packs (formulations) are of the greatest value in relieving painful extremities and back muscles. These can be applied by anyone after a short period of instruction. Pieces of wool-blanket material are immersed in boiling water or in hot steam and are wrung completely dry, to do away with any danger of their burning. They are then applied directly to the patient's body. The usual practice is to cover the hot applications with oiled

Jesus and Pure Living
Scriptures: Exodus 20:14; Proverbs 4:14-23; Matthew 5:8; Philippians 4:8.
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

A veneer survey was recently conducted in Oklahoma City, Ok., by the U. S. Public Health Service, in cooperation with the city and state, as part of an intensive campaign to wipe out syphilis and gonorrhea. A local church offered its facilities for use as a blood-testing center, and many thousands of people were examined there during the 45-day drive.

It is obvious that such a survey represents wholesome change in the national attitude toward diseases which hitherto it has hardly been polite to mention, though their destructive social consequences have long been well known to all who faced the facts.

The factors of impurity and shame associated with the diseases made an attitude of secrecy and silence not unnatural. The fact is, however, that ignorance, as well as sin and social evil, has played a large part in the spread of venereal disease.

The facts brought out in connection with the war have probably had much to do with the aroused public attitude. These facts have been appalling, though we must not lose sight of the fact that the great majority of those in the armed forces have maintained their integrity of body and soul, often under conditions of great strain.

Campaigns such as that conducted in Oklahoma City are greatly to be commended. But it is obvious that they are not enough in themselves. They must be employed in conjunction with emphasis upon decent moral standards and proper living.

It seems necessary to speak of purity on the plane of physical facts and relationships, for where impurity of conduct is rife there cannot be purity of mind and heart. But one must never forget that purity and pure living are not matters only of outward conduct, or matters related only to sex.

Much of the sexual immorality of our day arises from false standards of character and life. It is the outward expression of something wrong within.

The verses in our Scripture from Proverbs 4 are striking in their ancient wisdom. "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life."

Purity is primarily a matter of integrity of soul. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Dishonesty, envy, malice and all unloving thoughts and acts are in their very essence as impure as the blackest of so-called immoral offenses. It is only the pure in heart in this sense of being unsullied in soul who see God.

I think it was Thomas Hughes, author of "The Manlines of Christ," who said that "no virtue is safe that is not passionate."

By that he meant, I believe, that is neither safe nor enough to be just negatively good. It is passion that leads men astray, but it is only when they seek the good with equally passionate feelings that they find spiritual and moral strength and security. "Set your affections on things above."

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—General Joseph C. Hutcheson of Texas is famous for his keen sense of humor and for having kidded his colleagues and their judicial opinions were prompted by "hunches." However, when he discussed British partitioning of Palestine in a secret session at the state department last week, Judge Hutcheson was dead serious. Also, he was vehement against the British.

Hutcheson and the Anglo-American Palestine commission of which he was the head, had recommended that Palestine be placed under the United Nations and that 100,000 Jewish refugees be admitted from Germany immediately.

On the other hand, ex-assistant Secretary of State Henry Grady of San Francisco, President Truman's special representative on Palestine, sided with the British plan to split the Holy Land into Arab-Jewish zones. In Paris Grady was sold the British idea that war with Russia was imminent, that Palestine must be a British base.

So sparks flew last week when both sides were called together in the office of red-mustachioed acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

"We didn't come all the way back here to Washington to see this sellout," said Judge Hutcheson. "This is a clear-cut repudiation of the findings of our committee. It's a plan for the ghettoization of Palestine and we're unanimously against it."

Hutcheson went on to say that his group was in touch with its members in Britain and that the British commissioners also unanimously opposed cutting up Palestine.

"No sellout" — Grady

Henry Grady, however, didn't like Hutcheson's charge that the British plan was a "sellout."

"After all," Grady replied, "we have just come from London where we talked this thing over with the foreign office. I think the plan is very reasonable."

"We were in London, too," shot back Hutcheson, "and we spent a lot more than one week investigating this problem. We spent three months at it. And what's more, we went to Palestine and traveled all over Europe investigating every phase of this matter."

Grady continued to protest, but was silenced by the big Texan.

"If you care to debate this thing," said the U. S. circuit judge, "I can find another forum on which to do it."

The threat of public discussion silenced Grady. However, acting Secretary Acheson picked up the ball, said the new British plan had its good points and asked Under Secretary of State William Phillips for his opinion.

"I'm afraid I can't go along with the department this time," Phillips replied. "I'd like to, but I can't. This plan is impossible. How long can we continue to have our foreign policy the tail on the British foreign office kite?"

Acheson did not reply. But before the conference ended, he received one more merciless jab from sharp-tongued, quick-witted Bart Crum of San Francisco.

"Mr. Secretary," said Crum, calmly, "I have one question to ask you. You don't have to answer it if you don't want to. But I'd like to know if, after all you have seen and heard, do you have any faith whatsoever in any promises the British foreign office makes on any subject at any time."

Note 1—The British oppose the Anglo-American commission's plan to put Palestine under the United Nations for two reasons: 1. Britain doesn't want its past unsavory record as colonial administrator exposed and debated before the U. N.; 2. Britain doesn't want Russia to emerge as the champion of the Arabs.

Judge Hutcheson's commission disagrees on the latter point. In the Near East it interviewed wealthy Arab leaders who feared the Russians far more than the Jews.

Note 2—In Paris Prime Minister Attlee informed Secretary of State Byrnes that the Russians were ready to start aggressive action against Turkey. He argued that Palestine must be kept by the British in case of Russian trouble.

Alfred Noyes' Historic Poem

Through an error in the cable transmission I failed to mention Alfred Noyes in my column of August 5 on the subject of the next war weeping at the peace conference. He is the author of the inspiring poem which I quoted. Since I had to quote the poem from memory, there being no reference books readily available in Paris, I also find now that I made a mistake in one line. To me the poem represents the sentiments of servicemen of the World War II even more than those of World War I. For that reason I am repeating four stanzas, and I hope every delegate at the Paris peace conference reads them.

"We who lie here have nothing left to pray.
To all your praises we are deaf and blind.
We may not even know if you betray
Our hope to make earth better for mankind.

"Only our silence in the night shall grow
More silent as the stars grow in the sky;
And, while you deck our graves,
You shall not know
How many scornful legions pass you by.

"For we have heard men say when we were living
That some small dream of good would cost too much;
But when the foe struck, we have watched you giving,
And seen you move the mountain with one touch.

"What can be done we know. But have no fear!

Daughter Of Mine

By R. Louise Emery

Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Corinna tells me that Cecily had been secretly engaged to Steve Ralston but gave him back his fraternity pin after a quarrel about Val. And Val is married to Cecily. Steve took Cecily's pin in the first place.

XIII

ANOTHER new experience was awaiting Cecily at Della's. Steve Ralston had gone home to pour his wrath into his mother's ears while Cecily was sitting in her coupe outside Downs' being told by the president of her sorority that Val was not acceptable to the club as one of its "dates."

Myrtle Ralston, evidently afraid of the emotional dynamite of the inevitable reconciliation, got on the phone with no time lost.

"Mrs. Halliday," she said lightly to Della, "this is almost too childish to bother you with, but my son has just told me that he and your daughter have considered themselves secretly engaged this past semester."

Mrs. Ralston was in no position even to guess what great good news she had given Della. Let Myrtle Ralston try shutting doors now on Steve's future mother-in-law!

"I can't say I'm surprised," Della said sweetly. "After all, they've been crazy about each other since they were babies."

"I suppose we should have been warned," Mrs. Ralston agreed. "But I never dreamed they were taking their friendship so seriously! We've never allowed Steve to go steady with any one girl, but of course he has dated Cecily more frequently than anyone else."

"And if he has," said Della, nettled, "it was because he asked her well in advance. Cecily has always been able to take her choice."

Mrs. Ralston was no fool. She caught the hint of matters below the surface.

"Of course she has been popular," Mrs. Halliday, she said cautiously. "Cecily is a very attractive girl. And of course you want her to be sure that she's in love."

"Apparently she's made her choice," said Della.

Mrs. Ralston asked incredulously, "You don't mean that you'd approve—at Cecily's age?"

"Cecily is very mature for 17," Della said. "I can trust her judgment."

"How fortunate you are!" Mrs. Ralston indulged in an injudicious feline laugh that rubbed Della the wrong way even more than her words had done. "All this wild talk about killing Val if he doesn't leave Cecily alone convinces me more than ever that Steve is still an adolescent at 19!"

"I DON'T know why," said Della, spinning things out so that she might savor them to the full. "Older men fight when someone tries to cut in on their women." She used the last word maliciously. "It's quite natural."

"It may be natural," Mrs. Ralston conceded icily, "but you'd feel differently, Mrs. Halliday, if it were your son who was threatening another boy. I don't want him to mess up his life or Val's."

"I guess I should be thankful that I have a girl," Della said, trying to be as exasperating as possible.

"I'm sure you should," Mrs. Ralston returned, by this time every inch the enemy that Della had determined her to be. Long experience in women's clubs armed Myrtle for her next shot.

"Thank you, Mrs. Halliday, for making your stand so clear in this matter. I had hoped we could cooperate with each other but I see I shall have to handle the situation alone. And I am very thankful that Cecily did give Steve back his pin. I am sure that her judgment is more reliable than her mother's!"

Her last remark, of course, was intended to make Della smart, but the information about the pin was the thunderbolt. Della was frantically telephoning me before the click of the Ralston connection ceased reverberating.

"I hope you're satisfied!" she railed. "Throwing that Marlin street brat at her every time she turned around. This is your doing! You've ruined her life!"

I SIMPLY couldn't help it. I burst out laughing.

"Oh, it's all right for you to laugh!" Della sputtered, even more enraged. "You never wanted anything better for Corinna! But there's only one boy in this town good enough for Cecily and that's Steve Ralston. And if she wants him she's going to have him—whether you and Myrtle Ralston like it or not!"

"Apparently she doesn't want him," I pointed out.

"Certainly she does! Why would she want that gardener of yours? Steve is better looking, he has more money—"

"Della," I cut in, "I'm not opposed to Cecily's marrying Steve—I like him. But his mother is right. They're both too young—"

"I'd rather have her married young to the right boy than wait so long she has to grab anything she can get—"

I laughed again. "There's no danger of that—not with Cecily. Let her alone, Della. She'll be in love a dozen times before she settles down."

"She cut me off without goodbye just as Cecily came in to her, tear-stained and defiant. Della did not wait to hear her woes.

"Well, little Missy!" she greeted her. "Your great-great-grandfather who owned a plantation and was ambassador to France and never knew what it was to lift a hand for himself to the longest day he lived—he'd be very proud of you today—getting yourself mixed up with that playground flunkie!"

Cecily, accustomed all her years to Della's approbation of her high-handedness, was beyond speech at this betrayal. She merely waited tensely, her eyes talking back to Della's, unprepared by any previous training to retract a word of what she had said earlier.

A Year Ago Today—

Victory was sweet to travel-hungry, home-weary Americans on Aug. 16, 1945. They swarmed to the filling stations gassed up and took to the streets and highways—for gasoline was ration-free again after years of confining limitations. Rationing also was lifted from fuel oil and canned foods. Employment regulations on manpower were dropped and wage controls eased. Americans looked forward to a quick return to easy prosperous living with plenty of meat and butter and the luxury items dear to U. S. life.
